SPECIAL SUNDAY EDITION LATEST TELEGRAMS

BRITISH PARTY FIRED UPON.
BULGARIA, Sept. 12.—Major Ridley reports from the Uungungo River, on the 7th inst., that a small reconnoitring party from his column has been fired upon by the enemy. Pte. Paice was wounded in the hip, and Pte. Baldwin was wounded in the hand. The latter had to undergo amputation. Both men belong to the 7th Hussars.—REUTERS.

KAISER IN A SMASH.
LOMBARDY, Sept. 12.—As the Imperial train conveying the Emperor William from the Army manoeuvres was standing in the station here and just as his Majesty was about to take leave of the King of Saxony, had stepped into the Imperial saloon, the Dresden express, timed to arrive here at 11.55 a.m., came into collision with the second engine of the Imperial train. No one was injured, but the Emperor's train had to draw back and be shunted on to another line, causing 40 minutes' delay.—REUTERS.

THE CZAR'S TOUR.
PARIS, Sept. 12.—In an article on the subject of the Czar's visit, the "Journal" to-day observes that the Emperor's trip to the Continent is a Republic to go to salute the Czar on his arrival on French soil. The "Journal" points out that the Emperor of Austria and Germany awaited his Majesty, and did not go to meet him. "This," it declares, "is precisely the reason why M. Felix Faure will be going to Cherbourg in order that the Czar may not be received by us as he was received in Austria and Germany. In those two countries the Czar made a visit of politeness. We here consider that he says us a visit of friendship. Let us show the difference."—REUTERS.

THE NILE ADVANCE.
BOLEA, Sept. 12.—A cablegram from Khartoum states that while changing the high-pressure cylinder to low pressure yesterday, the boiler on board the steel gunboat exploded. A great portion of the vessel was blown up, and the engine was utterly destroyed. No loss of life is mentioned.—CENTRAL NEWS.

THE SINKING TOWN.
BATH, Sept. 12.—During the latter part of today further subsidence has occurred on the railway, due to the gradual falling in of the soil over subterranean cavities. Final plans have not yet been prepared for putting a stop to the earth movement. The dam constructed to protect the Annapolis Pit has not been injured, but have nevertheless been strengthened, and the position of the miners is regarded as satisfactory.

THE REBELLION IN CUBA.
Havana, Sept. 12.—A despatch received from Havana states that the authorities have discovered the headquarters of the Revolutionary party in Cuba, and that nearly all the leaders have been arrested. According to a telegram from Key West, the steamer Three Friends has landed another filibustering expedition in the United States. It is added that this is the fifth expedition of the kind since the United States which landed in Cuba since the issue of President Cleveland's manifesto against attempts to violate international law.—REUTERS.

EX-MONK ACQUITTED.
ON FRAUD AT THE JURY.
At the Old Bailey Francis George Widdows was put on trial for an offence under the Criminal Law Amendment Act with a lad named Peter Borrajo, living with his parents in Hyverdal-rd., Stoke Newington. The defence was an alibi, and it was also suggested by counsel that the prosecution was a conspiracy hatched by the Roman Catholics of Tottenham against him for exposing their religion.—A number of witnesses were called.

SITUATION AT ZANZIBAR.
ZANZIBAR, Sept. 12.—Great uneasiness is felt in the town owing to the continued retention of the usurper Khalid at the German Consulate. Rumours are being spread by intriguers that Germany supports Khalid, and will reinstate him on the throne. This story is believed by ignorant Indians, who, fearing further disturbances, prefer to return to Germany. There is a general feeling that Germany is not acting in an altogether friendly spirit.—REUTERS.

PHILIPPINE RISING.
MADRID, Sept. 12.—An official telegram from Manila states that 4 leaders of the insurrection have been shot at San Juan Monte. Most of the leaders of the conspiracy in the Nueva Ecija district have been killed in the various encounters that have taken place with the troops. Armies continue on a large scale, and numbers of prisoners have been deported to the Caroline Islands.—CENTRAL NEWS.

TWICE SENTENCED TO DEATH.
ROVEN, Sept. 12.—There is at present a man named Journer in the local gaol who has been twice sentenced to death, and yet escaped the scaffold. He was first condemned in 1892 for a peculiarly brutal murder, but an irregularity in the proceedings was afterwards discovered, and a new trial ordered. The capital sentence was again pronounced and confirmed on appeal, but the President taking all the circumstances into consideration has commuted the penalty into transportation for life.—DAILY NEWS.

FIVE BURGLARIES.
A RAID ON PUBLIC-HOUSES IN SOUTH LONDON YESTERDAY.
Burglars have been busy among the public-houses in the Brixton and Camberwell districts. Early yesterday no fewer than 5 licensed houses were entered. From the Enterprises in Coldharbour-lane a sum of over £60 in cash was taken. Of the money stolen from another house, the thieves took £18, and in silver and 3s. or 4s. in bronze. No cigars or drinks were taken. The entrance was effected by the kitchen window, as shown by chisel marks, while some of the slates on the roof were found to be disarranged.

AN ATTEMPT WAS ALSO MADE ON THE SUN AND DOWNS, a public-house in the same thoroughfare. The landlady heard a noise near the billiard-room about 3 o'clock, and pulled up the blinds of her bedroom window. Evidently the visitors were disconcerted by the noise, and retired without effecting their purpose.—At the Effra the haul amounted to £7, the thieves taking their departure by the front door. They did no damage, and although there was a box of shilling cigars within their reach they left them untouched.

THEIR AND THE MANAGER'S LEFT.
Some amusing incidents marked their visit to the George Tavern in Raiton-rd., Brixton. Here the total amount only amounted to 5s. 5d., and a red silk handkerchief and a pair of gloves were the only articles of value. The manager and the track of muddy boots on the woodwork of a partition clearly showed how the thieves had found their way in. They ransacked the manager's coat, which they found in the bar parlour, took the 5d. which he carried in his pocket, and then they searched the papers all over the floor. A sum of 4d. in farthings was left untouched. Evidently they drew the line at halfpence. They also broke open a cupboard containing bottles of pickles, and whisky, and disturbed a sum of 7s. 6d. on the cheffonier and 1s., which was lying on the mantelpiece. It was fortunate that the manager had turned off the lights before retiring, for on coming down in the morning he found the place a scene of confusion. He turned on the gas, and the burglars had vented their anger by impaling

SAVAGES ON THE TAP, and scattering a number of pieces on the floor. The small amount of plunder carried off by the George is accounted for by the money being taken to the manager's bedroom every night. His wife makes merry over the burglary, which was certainly the least profitable of the whole series. A remarkable feature of the raid is the respectability of the burglars. It is the respectability of the raid is the respectability of the burglars. It is the respectability of the raid is the respectability of the burglars.

CONSTANTINOPLE. STRONG COLLECTIVE NOTE FROM THE POWERS.

INCREASED UNEASINESS.
Yesterday's news from Constantinople indicates increased uneasiness, and all kinds of sensational rumours were abroad. In the City it was stated that a Cabinet Council had been hastily summoned to meet at Balmoral today, but this was officially denied. It was added that there had been no development at Constantinople which could give colour to the report. A telegram from Constantinople said that the Extraordinary Tribunal established at the Ministry of Justice, which held its first sitting on the 3rd inst., had acquitted the 2 gendarmes who murdered 2 Armenians outside the guard-room at Therapia. The announcement of this decision has produced much indignation among the diplomatic body, and indeed in all circles, as it is regarded as affording fresh proof of the illusory nature of the proceedings against Muslims against Armenians. There being no doubt of the guilt of the gendarmes, it is generally considered that their acquittal will tend to increase the

PREVAILING UNEASINESS
among the European residents, as clearly showing the absence of any guarantee for public safety. The Porte has addressed a long note to the Ambassadors of the Powers on the 11th ult., refuting the allegations of the Ambassadors, which reply practically amounts to a denial of the official testimony of some of the representatives of the Powers and of the Embassy dragomans concerning the attitude of the Turkish authorities during the recent events. In view of this attitude, which is regarded as virtually constituting a defiance of Europe, the inaction of the Ambassadors continues to be sharply criticised in political circles. The Ambassadors met yesterday to deliberate on the situation, but no resolution was taken. Rumours are current in Constantinople of an impending change in the office of Grand Vizier. Abdullah Pasha, lately Military Governor in Crete, is mentioned as most likely to succeed to the post.

FRANCE TREATMENT OF THE
A Bouter's message from Constantinople says:—After the Selamlik Sir Philip Currie, the British Ambassador, who was accompanied by Mr. Adam Block, the first dragoman of the British Embassy, was received by the Sultan in private audience. The master of the steamer "Bouter" arrived at 120 Armenians who were allowed to go free on landing. A Cabinet Council was held at Paris at which M. Barthou stated that he had sent instructions to the Prefect of the Bouches du Rhone to afford relief to the refugees at Marseilles and to provide them with work.

AWFUL ATROCITIES are described by a gentleman in Constantinople, who writes:—"In the villages inhabited by an Armenian population, the Armenians are being treated with the most horrible atrocities. The most recent case I have heard of is that of a woman and her young daughter, who were taken from their homes and sent to a place called 'Martyr's Well.' The following 'martyr scenes' are enumerated as having witnessed:—An Armenian is bound naked to a tree. A small opening is made with a knife in the groin, and by means of aquits, water is forced into his quivering body. The fanatical onlookers mock his dreadful shrieks of agony until death puts an end to his sufferings.—Second scene.—An Armenian is enveloped in steepest in petroleum, being taken to a place called 'Martyr's Well.' MURDER AND SUICIDE.
Thomas Gee, labourer, living in Long Eaton, one morning this week fired a double-barrelled gun at Mrs. Newell, his next door neighbour, and killed her, for which he committed suicide by shooting himself with a revolver. Mrs. Newell at the time of the tragedy came out of her house to fetch some coal, and was shot from behind, the bullet entering beneath the shoulder and passing through the heart. Death was instantaneous. After shooting Mrs. Newell, Gee went into the garden and fired into his mouth. The bullet passed through the base of the skull and he died in about 2 hours. Gee was nearly 30 years of age and was unmarried. Mrs. Newell was 51. The affair took place after her husband had left early in the morning for his work. No motive is ascribed for the crime, except that Gee considered himself objectionable to Mrs. Newell, who intended leaving her house. Mrs. Newell was a native of Dorsetshire. "A MARTYR TO VIRTUE."
At the inquest it transpired in evidence that on a previous occasion Gee had made improper overtures to Mrs. Newell, who resisted him with spirit.—The jury returned a verdict of wilful murder against Gee in the case of the woman, and one of suicide while of sound mind in the case of Gee. They added the expression of their opinion that the woman was a martyr to her virtue.

ONE OF DR. JIM'S TROOPERS.
Sydney Claude Clarendon, one of the troopers who accompanied Dr. Jameson into the Transvaal, and was among the prisoners taken by the Boers, was indicted, at the County of London Sessions, for obtaining credit by means of false pretences.—Defendant took lodgings at a house in Shepherd's Bush, but did not pay the bill.—His defence was that he expected money from the Chartered Co. in respect of his lost kit, with which he intended to discharge this debt. He had no idea of fraud.—The jury acquitted him.
